"Life is so short and time so valuable, that it were happy for us if all great works were reduced to their quintessence." Sir William Jones.

PROSPECTUS.

ASIA.

The Asiatic part of this work contains a general view of the antediluvians—of the general deluge—of the re-settlement of the Globe after that great event—of the primitive postdiluvian nations, which were formed in Asia, the cradle of the world. Their various ramifications, revolutions, and of the general course of Empire.

AFRICA.

The African part, contains a concise history of Egypt, Carthage, Numidia, Mauritania, Abyssinia, of the Piratical States, and the Hottentots, with a grouped view of its uncivilized settlements.

EUROPE.

The European part, contains the history of Greece and Rome, from their origin to their dissolution—of the various nations which were conquered by them—and of the nations by which the Romans themselves were finally conquered, and of the nations which were formed from the fragments of the Roman Empire, and the various revolutions of the latter, together with a view of the nations which never were subjected to the Romans.

AMERICA.

The American part, contains a general history of the Western continent, under the heads of Free, European, and Aboriginal or unconquered America. The first contains a history of the United States, from their first settlement as English Colonies, till the present time.—The second, of all parts dependant on Europe.—And the third, of all that are still owned by the Aborigines.

It is expected that the whole will be comprised in 10 or 12 octavo volumes, of between four and five hundred pages each—to be printed in Philadelphia, on good paper and fair types, for $3 1-3 per volume, in sheep binding, or $4 1-3 Calf Gilt, to be paid for on delivery.

AUTHORITIES.

This work has been in contemplation upwards of 40 years. The project of it was conceived in 1785, on reading the Universal History, then recently edited in 60 volumes, by a society of gentlemen in England. The original idea of extracting the quintessence of that voluminous work, which contained the most complete system of history the world had then seen, has ever since been enlarging and improving by an attentive perusal of the histories written by Robertson, Hume, Gibbon, and other modern authors—of the Asiatic researches—of the works of Sir William Jones, and other learned Orientalists—the publications of intelligent travellers, who, in the course of the last half century have explored almost every region of the Globe. These collectively have thrown a blaze of light on countries comparatively unknown, and on portions, both of ancient and modern history which were confused and obscure at the period when the writers of the Universal History published their work. The arrangement of materials collected from these sources commenced in the year 1780, when, in consequence of the surrender of Charleston to Sir Henry Clinton, the author was suddenly released from a sea of business and sent as a prisoner of war to the British Garrison then in St. Augustine, and there confined for eleven months, without any peculiar employment. Steady progress has been made for the last ten years in correcting and transcribing the work for publication.

UNITED STATES.

The History of the United States is given at full length—that of foreign countries is more or less expended or contracted in proportion to the intrinsic importance of each—its tendency to illustrate portions of Holy Writ—the Greek and Latin Classics—and also in proportion to its connexion with the U. States, or as furnishing useful practical information to its citizens, or as the paternal soil of their ancestors.

The above sketch of the nature and objects of this immense work, which has occupied the attention of the Author for upwards of 40 years, was found among his papers, and is now given to the public in his own words. Since that period, a few chapters have been added by the Reverend SAMUEL STANHOPE SMITH, which brings it down to the close of the last war.

The publication commences with a third impression of the History of the U. States, in three volumes, which is all that has ever appeared. The whole will not be delivered under 15 or 20 months. It is proper to state, that the gentlemen who have the direction of it are neither booksellers nor printers, and receive no pecuniary consideration for their trouble—but are willing to make the necessary advances to carry it into execution provided the sale is warranted by public patronage. The profits arising are to be appropriated for the support and education of his children, four of each sex: to them its success is a matter of deep importance.

THE ELOQUENCE OF PHILLIPS.

The Edingourgh Critic throws the mutual adulation of Mr. Phillips and his friend Finlay, into high and just ridicule —and exposes with poignant satire a standard of criticism which Finlay endeavors to establish, in order by it to prove his friend Phillips's pretensions to a high rank among orators.

"To juries and public assemblies alone (says this sage advocate,—Finlay, in his preface to his friend's speeches) the following speeches have been addressed; and it is by ascertaining their effect on these assemblies or juries, that the merit of this writer should in justice be measured."

We are anxious (says the Edinburgh Reviewer, upon this passage) to protest against the new canon of criticism which these gentlemen would introduce, and which, if adopted, would at once put an end to all classical eloquence. Success with a jury or a mob, it seems, is the criterion of good oratory. Now we venture to assert that no worse criterion can be conceived: for every one who knows any thing of those audiences—(viz. mobs and juries) is aware that they are liable to be led away by the glare of the worst style of speaking,—although we have no manner of doubt that the purest and most chaste oratory, if adapted to the occasion, would always ensure a still greater success even with the multitude."

Of the ten speeches contained in this volume, proceeds the Reviewer, five were delivered at dinners and other public meetings, and five in courts of justice;—But the style of all is exactly the same; and indeed there is nothing in Mr. Phillips's speeches more to be remarked than their surprising uniformity. It almost amounts to repetition; it is so very perfect and exact that you can always tell beforehand, how he is to go on when he has begun with a topic. He proceeds as if he worked by a particular receipt, mechanically; and the worst of it is that he uses the same receipts whatever be his object. The perfection of oratory, he seems to think, consists in pouring out, without any selection, a multitude of images, in language always epigrammatic, whether the ideas it conveys be so or not. The object which ought to be in view is perpetually sacrificed to what is, no doubt, the real purpose of all these speeches—the saying something gaudy or striking; and Mr. Phillips has but one way of saying it. We may open the book at random. Thus of the Pope he says,

"Placed at the very pinnacle of human elevation, surrounded by the pomp of the Vatican and the splendors of the court, pouring the mandates of Christ from the throne of the Cæsars, nations were his subjects, kings were his companions, religion was his handmaid; he went forth gorgeous with the accumulated dignity of ages, every knee bending, and every eye blessing the prince of one world and the prophet of another. Have we not seen him in one moment his crown crumbled, his sceptre a reed, his throne a shadow, his home a dungeon!"

Of Bonaparte.

"The goal of other men's speed was his starting post; crowns were his play things—thrones his footstool; he strode from victory to victory; his path was a plane of continued elevations."

Of Ferdinand.

"A wretch of even worse than proverbial princely ingratitude; who filled his dungeons and fed his rack with the heroic remnant that braved war and famine and massacre beneath his banners; who rewarded patriotism with the prison, fidelity with the torture, heroism with the scaffold, and piety with the inquisition; whose royalty was published by the signal of his death warrants, and whose religion evaporated in the embroidering of petticoats for the blessed Virgin!"

Of a bigot generally, we are told that he is

"A wretch whom no philosophy can humanize, no charity soften, no religion reclaim, no miracle convert; a monster who, red with the fires of hell, and bending under the crimes of earth, erects his murderous divinity upon a throne of skulls, and would gladly feed, even with a brother's blood, the cannibal appetite of his rejected altar."

Of Bigotry.

"She has no head, and cannot think; she has no heart, and cannot feel; when she moves, it is in wrath; when she pauses, it is amid ruin; her prayers are curses, her communion is death, her vengeance is eternity, her decalogue is written in the blood of her victims, and if she stoops a moment from her infernal flight, it is upon some kindred rock to whet her vulture fang for keener rapine, and replume her wing for a more sanguinary desolation!"

Again of Bigotry, in the same speech.

"In form a fury, and in act a demon, her heart festered with the fires of hell, her hands clothed with the gore of earth, withering alike in her repose and in her progress—her path apparent by the print of blood, and her pause denoted by the expanse of desolation."

Of a Catholic sending his son to the war.

"Suppose he sends his son, the hope of his pride and the wealth of his heart, into the army; the child justifies his parental anticipation; he is moral in his habits, he is strict in his discipline, he is daring in the field and temperate at the board, and patient in the camp; the first in the charge, the last in the retreat;—with a heart to achieve, a head to guide, and a temper to conciliate, he combines the skill of Wellington with the clemency of Cæsar, and the courage of Turenne."

Of ditto sending ditto to the bar.

"He has spent his nights at the lamp, and his days in the forum; the rose has withered from his cheek mid the drudgery of form; the spirit has fainted in his heart mid the analysis of crime; he has foregone the pleasures of his youth, and the associates of his heart, and all the fairy enchantments in which fancy may have wrapped him. Alas, for what?—Though genius flashed from his eye, and eloquence rolled from his lip; though he spoke with the tongue of Tully, and argued with the learning of Coke, &c."

It is the less necessary to multiply instances, because every passage which we may extract in the course of these observations is sure to exemplify the same thing. [To be continued.]

KROUSIANIA;

In imitation of Boswell's Johnsoniania

The learned Dr. K—ors asserted one day, in the lobby of the senate chamber, that "man was a hissing animal." "That —(said the famous general Blucher, who was present, and who is another Boswell to the Doctor)—that I deny, unless you can prove that a man is a goose"

The Doctor.—"Sir, it is not necessary to prove a man a goose in order to prove him a hissing animal. He may be a hissing animal in a variety of ways Do you remember the case of Leda and her eggs? Now, sir, will you be so bold as to deny that if Jupiter had appeared in the form of a gander instead of a swan, the eggs of Leda would not have been goose eggs, and Castor and Pollux hissing animals? Again, sir; imagine a case which may happen in our own times—suppose a real gander to stand in the place of Jupiter, or a real goose in the place of Leda; and then suppose (a thing, sir, by no means impossible) that the egg produced by such an amour should be dropped upon a dung hill, and there hatched, in the Egyptian manner, by the sun's rays, or the caloric contained in the dung itself; would not the gosling from such an egg be a hissing animal? He might have the form and outward exterior of a man, but in every other sense he would be a goose. Yes, sir, such instances are known. Besides, sir, nature is not so circumscribed in her efforts as those who study little and think less, appear to imagine and too often have the impudence to assert. You are not so ignorant as never to have heard of Alexander the Great? Does not Herodotus, and all the antient historians of any credit, assert positively that Alexander was not the son of Philip, but the progeny of Jupiter Ammond, who, in the form of a serpent, rolled in bed with his mother? Alexander, sir, thus begotten, was a hissing animal. These, sir, are cases from the antients, established beyond the possibility of doubt. Infidels and heretics only would have the insolence to avow their disbelief of them. Sir, we need not look far to find among our cotemporaries a hissing animal, and one who, in addition to that quality has many other of the properties of the viper."

Thus was the Doctor, as usual, victorious; astonishing his audience by the profundity of his learning and that prodigious force of intellect which shows, when it grasps its subject, the paw of the tiger. [London paper.

LATEST FROM THE ARMY.

A letter from Gen. Glascock to the editors of the Journal, dated Fort St. Marks 7th April, states, that on the 1st inst. a skirmish took place between the advance of the army and a portion of the Mickasuks Indians, (most of them fled on the approach of our troops.) The Tennessee detachment rushed forward, and participated slightly in the action; they had one man killed and four wounded—seven of the enemy were slain; their number of wounded is not known. Col. Henderson of Wilkes county, is stated to have killed an Indian chief, the same who is understood to have headed the party that murdered Lee and Lofters while crossing Cedar creek. The day after the skirmish Gen. Gaines was ordered with one thousand men to scour and lay waste the adjacent country. He did so, but the enemy had disappeared—five negroes were taken by him.

Fowl-Town, Mickasuka, and some others have been destroyed—1000 head of beef cattle, and several thousand bushels of corn have fallen into our hands. Gen. Jackson has taken possession of St. Marks, a Spanish post on the river of that name—the commandant protested against this measure, but did not think proper to oppose its execution with force.—The Army has marched against the town of Suwanney, distant about thirty miles, and it is expected reached there on Thursday last; but it was not believed that the Indians would make a stand at that, or any other place. Some having surrendered themselves prisoners, and the rest have been dispersed—so that, the war with them may be considered nearly at an end. The militia from this state, we understand, will be marched to Trader's Hill, and discharged in a few days. Capt Arbuthnot, a British officer, was captured at St. Marks. If we mistake not, he was engaged during the late contest with Great Britain, in stirring up the Indians to hostility against us, and commanded for some time the negro fort erected on the Appalachicola, which was subsequently demolished by our troops.

By the hoisting the British flag, several Indians were decoyed on board of some gun boats that ascended the St. Marks river the 31st ult.—among them was a chief, and the prophet Francis, both of whom were hanged—the rest were liberated. St. Marks, when taken, was strongly fortified, had twenty pieces of heavy ordnance mounted, and was garrisoned by about fifty men, who have since embarked for Pensacola. M'Intosh, whose vigilance and enterprize, merit commendation, has captured about 100 more prisoners, Journal.

From the Augusta Chronicle, April 18.

INDIAN BATTLE.

Capt. Callis, who has just arrived in this place from Fort Hawkins, has politely furnished us with the following highly important intelligence:

About the 6th inst. general Jackson attacked and burnt the Mickasuckee Town, with an inconsiderable loss on his part.—The loss of the Indians is not stated.—Previous to and after the action a number of the enemy surrendered themselves prisoners. All their resources, (among which were 1000 head of cattle,) were taken or destroyed. The celebrated prophet Francis, and one of the principal chieftains were hanged.

Gen. Jackson afterwards proceeded to St. Marks, and took possession of the fortress without opposition. It is the impression that this blow has been so decisive, that the war with the Indians is now at an end, and that the Georgia militia will soon return to their homes.

TENCH RINGOLD, of this city, has been appointed by the President, to be Marshal for the District of Columbia, in the place of Washington Boyd, resigned. [Nat. Intel.

Gen. Pegram is elected a Representative to Congress from Virginia, to supply the vacancy occasioned by the death of Col. Peterson Goodwyn.

FROM GIBRALTAR.

Gibraltar, Jan. 29.

There are three Tunisian vessels of war here; they were chased in by the Portuguese, who have three frigates watching their motions. The Americans continue to carry on a great trade to the Mediterranean, notwithstanding the British government have thrown open the intercourse in British vessels from the East-India possessions, which will be productive of much good. The American ship Ganges, arrived here from Manilla and Batavia, brings 300 tons of sugar, 100,000 lbs. Java coffee, 16,000 lbs. indigo, &c.

From the New York Daily Advertiser.

On the 11th of the present month, a committee of the House of Representatives of the United States made a long report "upon the expenses under the 4th, 5th, 6th, and 7th articles of the Treaty of Ghent." We regret that the length of this paper, and the documents accompanying it, prevent its entire insertion.—The government appear, at last, to be desirous of examining into the state of the expenditure of public money. The time was, when this was a ticklish subject—one that might endanger the popularity, and perhaps have some influence in shaking the regular succession to the crown. That time, at least for the present, has passed by. There is now no pressure on the men in power, and very little division on the great political concerns of the nation. This state of things forms a proper and safe calm to examine into the public accounts. Several subjects, relating to the expenditure of money, have been brought up, and some progress has been made in developing them. We presume that the business, thus happily commenced, will be persevered in until the books are adjusted and balanced, because it is possible, if this favorable season should be lost, that some political storm may intervene, and the business be laid by to a more convenient season.

After an introductory series of remarks on the various articles of the treaty, and the powers and duties of the commissioners under it, the committee say—

As it respects the principles upon which the commissioners have proceeded, if thereby be meant the rules of the decision, by which, as general principles, the individual questions of doubt and difficulty are to be determined, as they may occur, it cannot, perhaps be said, that any have been solemnly decided. The only information which the committee have will be found by a reference to a part of the document marked G, (general Porter's statement;) and though the commissioners have had full and frequent conversations, as to the principles by which they should be guided in certain hypothetical cases which might arise, yet they have never adjudicated or settled any abstract principles; and he does not feel himself at liberty to give to the committee as such, the incidental conversations above alluded to.

We come now to the expenses incurred in the execution of the 6th and 7th articles. The document marked E shows the aggregate amount to be $35,283 53 1-2 cents, composed of, first commissioner's compensation for two years, $8,888; second, the proportion of the U States that is, one half of the contingent expenses, which proportion is $10,357 39 1-2 cents; third agents' account for two years' salary and contingent expenses, $16,038 14 cents.

The compensation of the commissioner is provided for in the 8th article of the treaty, by declaring that the commissioners shall be paid in such a manner, as shall be agreed between the two contracting parties, such agreement being to be settled at the time of the exchange of the ratifications of the treaty. The document K, shows an agreement between the U. States, and the British charge des affaires, declaring the principles of the payment of the commissioners to be the same, as under the treaty of 1794; that is, the expense to be equally borne, but it does not fix the amount; it appears, however, by a letter from the Secretary of State, marked L, to be understood that the American commissioners are entitled to one thousand pounds sterling.

As to the contingent expenses, the 8th article of the treaty provides, that all other expenses, (after having provided for the payment of the commissioners,) attending the commission, shall be defrayed equally by the two parties.—The document marked C, shows the whole amount of the United States' share of the contingent expenses, and that, together with the one marked M, exhibits the several items composing that amount. From an examination of these, it will be seen, that $6,580, part of the $10,357 39 go to the salaries and wages of the assistant secretary, surveyor, and others employed. The treaty recognises the appointment of a secretary by name, but not of an assistant secretary; and though it authorizes the employment of surveyors and other persons, as shall be judged necessary, yet the committee incline to the opinion, that these words do not include the idea of any distinct office; of this, however, the house will judge for themselves. If the idea, as to the assistant secretary be correct, then his salary of $2,200 may be saved; and if their opinion also be correct, as to the practicability of ascertaining the boundary without actual survey and map, then there would be a very great saving, in the other items of the wages and expenses of persons concerned in the survey.—According to the opinion of the committee, that part of the expenses, which are personal to the commissioners, are not properly chargeable to the government.—It is for the house to determine what influence the precedent under the treaty of 1794, hereafter mentioned shall have as to the expenses of a passage to the river to be decided on. As to the residue, as the document C presents them in minute detail, the house have on the subject, all the information which the committee have. General Porter considers, that he was referred by the government generally to the proceedings of the commissioners, under the treaty of 1794, for precedents, and he was of opinion, that the precedent of those commissioners justified the charge of his necessary personal expenses. In relation to the opinion of the government, that the commissioners would pursue the rules established in 1794, see letter from Department of State, No. 4 The committee have procured from that Department one letter, marked L, of the 3d April, 1818, and another marked N, of the 8th April, 1818; the first of these states in general terms, that no allowance was made to the commissioners for their personal expenses, in additon to their salaries; the second letter states, that the commissioners did allow themselves the contingent expenses of their passages by sea, between the United States and the British provinces, which became necessary for the execution of their duties; and that no other personal expenses appear to have been allowed to them.

In consequence of the facts disclosed by this report, the House of Representatives passed the following resolution, which was recommended by the committee, and annexed to their report—

Resolved, That the President of the United States, be requested to arrange with the British government, some mode of designating the boundary line under the 6th and 7th articles of the treaty of Ghent, which shall require less time and expense than the one which the commissioners have heretofore pursued.

Oscar, Junior,

Stands this season in Prince George's county, at Mount Air, adjoining Piscataway, and covers mares from Wednesday until Monday, and the balance of the week at Port Tobacco, in Charles county, at 30 dollars the season—the season ends the 1st day of August next. Fifteen dollars and one to the groom will be taken if paid in the season. Good pasturage for mares coming from a distance at Mount Air, for one dollar a week, and fed (if requested) with grain at market price.

Oscar was out of Dr. Edelen's celebrated running mare Floretta, by colonel John Taylor's Oscar, a capital turf horse. Doctor Edelen's Floretta won more jockey club purses than any one horse perhaps on the continent, and performed a 4 mile second heat in less time over the City course than it was ever done before or since. Oscar, jr. is full sixteen hands high, stout, and uncommonly handsome.

I will not be answerable for accidents or escapes. JOSEPH EDELEN.

METAL FAN-SASHES, of various descriptions, will be made by the subscriber, at his shop, lower end of Duke street. The want of a Metal Fan-Sash Manufactory in Alexandria, has hitherto been severely felt by builders and others, who have been compelled to make use of wood, which is neither elegant nor durable. James Kennedy & Son,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from

LEE'S MEDICINE STORE,

No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Teres or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitine or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health & strength a great number when in an advanced stege of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent cramps in the stomach and back
Consumptions	Indigestion
Lowness of spirits	Melancholy
Loss of appetite	Gout in the stomach
Impurity of blood	Pains in the limbs
Hysteric affection	Relaxations, etc.
Inward weaknesses and debility

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,
